Get a learner's permit

Apply via www.korkortsportalen.se or call 0771-81 81 81.

Learn the theory and learn to drive in the same period of time

- With a learner's permit you may practise driving from the day of your 16th birthday.
- If you are not using an approved driving school, your teacher must be approved as a private driving instructor. Both you and your instructor must have completed a special introduction course.
- The best way to learn is to alternate theory and practice.
- The course plan and presentation of the theory test can be found at www.korkortsportalen.se.

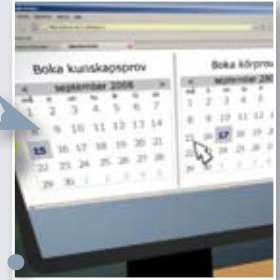

Complete the risk training course

Risk training is compulsory and consists of two parts:

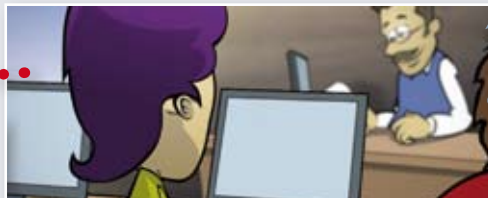

- Part 1 concerns alcohol, other drugs, tiredness and other risky behaviour.
- Part 2 is concerns speed, safety and driving in special conditions.

Both parts of this risk training must have been completed and still be valid when you take the theory test and the driving test.

Book an appointment for a driving test

- Book appointments for the theory test and the driving test at the same time.
- Book your appointments on www.korkortsportalen.se or contact the Driving Test Customer Services at the Swedish Transport Administration on 0771-171819.
- Are you learning to drive at a driving school? Then the school can book your appointments for you.
- You get priority when you book for the first time.

You Pass!

THE DRIVING LICENSE IS YOURS

You will receive your licence within five working days.

You fail!

If you do not pass one or both of the tests you may, if you pay another fee, retake the test you failed within the two-month period of validity. This applies only on the condition that both tests have been taken within a period of two weeks and that the retest is booked within three days of doing the tests. If the period of validity has expired then you have to take both tests again and pay a new set of fees for both. The tests are booked at the same time.

The Theory and the Driving Test

- It is possible to do the theory and the driving test on the same day. If you do both tests within a period of two weeks, and if you fail one or both, you will be able to take the retest within a period of two months.
- Always start with the theory test.
- Then do the driving test even if you did not pass your theory test.
- A pass on a theory test or driving test is valid for two months. Once this period of validity has expired you have to retake both tests again. Book the two tests at the same time.

COME WELL PREPARED. PUT THE THEORY YOU HAVE LEARNED INTO PRACTICE.
